The ravages of time and the elements have reduced to almost complete ruin what is considered by historians to be the oldest cemetery in Marshall County.

The burying ground, known as the Ballard Half Acre cemetery, is two miles northwest of Albion in Iowa township. Standing on the crest of a hill in the middle of a pasture, it is not easily discernible from the road since it is within a grove of trees.

LIKE SO many abandoned burial grounds, only life now are the birds overhead in the still standing trees. Their scolding can be heard above the wind as one disturbs their place of shelter while exploring through the little city of the dead.

The elements have created most of the destruction here, storms uprooting trees which have in turn topped tombstones, some dating back as early as 1844 or three years before Marshall County was settled. Wind has covered most of the toppled stones with dirt and it is necessary to scrape away earth and twigs to read inscriptions.

It is hard now to tell how many were ever buried here although records reveal at least 15 graves and possibly there were twice that number.

Just recently someone has erected a slab of stone here and placed upon it the headstones of three members of the Gaer family. One stone bears the inscription "Harriet A., daughter of A. and N. Gaer, died Dec. 12, 1863, aged 2 years, 2 months and 11 days and son, Earnest." Another has just the word "Infant, died Dec. 18, 1851, aged one day." The third stone is for "Mary A.M., who died Nov. 19, 1863, aged 4 years, 2 months, 12 days."

LIKE SO many of the early tombstones a verse has been inscribed on the bottom of each stone. On one is: "Sleep on dear Harriet, And take thy rest—"

God called thee home
He thought it best."

On still another was:
"Her life was like a morning
flower.

So soon has passed away.
She could not live another

B shines in endless day."

Among other stones uncovered from the dirt and debris were those of Elizabeth, wife of Philip Ballard, who died June 16, 1852, at the age of 42 years, 3 months and 12 days; Sarah A., wife of G. C. Duncan, who died May 1, 1859 and whose age was 38 years, 5 months, 29 days; Henry Alva, son of J. M. and M. J. Ballard, given Feb. 28, 1867 and taken March 1, 1886; and H. E., daughter of J. M. and M. J. Ballard, Oct. 21, 1870, age 1 year, 1 month and 1 day.

Still another stone is that of a civil war veteran, James Hamblin, who served in Company K, 16th United States infantry. There is no record of his death and age incised on the stone.

THIS PLOT, according to historians, was used as a burying ground, at least 30 years for in earlier years one stone was discovered with a date as late as 1878.

Another abandoned burial ground is one called the Wallin Cemetery, about three miles east of Marshalltown and then a half mile back through the field.

Like the Ballard cemetery, its present condition will not testify as to the number of its dead. An exploration through the thick undergrowth found five tombstones in the southeast corner of the plot.

This Memorial Day Our Old Cemeteries Are Showin

Rolison family are still discernible. On this lot has been erected a large tombstone marking the graves of the entire family. Inscribed on the stone is the word "Rolison" in large letters and underneath "Father and Mother, Daniel and Margaret, Charles, Mandy and Mary, infant children of D. and M. Rolison." There are no dates.

"Hidden behind a huge tree is another stone marking the grave of Frankie M., son of J. D. and E. J. Wallin, who according to the inscription died March 8, 1877, aged 3 months, 10 days. Uncovered beneath dirt and debris was a slab broken off the tombstone of Isaiah Wollin, containing this information: died Jan. 28, 1863, aged 75 years, 7 months, 28 days. It is noted that the name on this stone was spelled with an "o".

To the west of these stones is one for the infant son of T. E. and Electa Downs. According to the inscription, he died July 24, 1861. Wandering around further reveals a slab of stone against a tree in the middle of this abandoned cemetery with only the initials "A. W. B. W." inscribed upon it.

A pile of tombstones stacked in the corner of a field is all that is left of another forgotten cemetery which 111 years ago was located three miles northeast of the city in Marion township. According to historians this cemetery situated on the old Henry Merrill farm, was only 80 rods west of the Nicholson Ford road to Green Mountain. Today the farm is owned by Mike Lynch, 1104 W. Main St.

THIS WAS the Quinn family cemetery, although neighbors were also buried there, according to Lynch and William Pegg, Route 1, who recalls when this burial ground was in existence 50 years ago. They believe this cemetery was never plotted and probably was started after the farm was homesteaded. The cemetery has been plowed up, little by little, through the years until today all that is left is tombstones.

Pegg recalls that the first person murdered in Marshall County was buried here. The crime was committed, he said, down at the old mill on Burnett Creek.

It is Lynch's plan to preserve what tombstones are left by placing them on concrete. Oldest stone found in the pile is that of Julius Lorenzo, son of L. D. and J. A. Gordon, who died Sept. 7, 1853 at the age of 1 month and 8 days.

As in the Wallin cemetery there is a difference in spelling of the name Quin on the tombstones. On the one for James W. Quin, the last name is spelled with two "n's", but for his wife there is but one "n". All that remains of the headstone for James W. Quinn is his name and the fact that he was born April 13, 1811. His wife, Elizabeth, died Aug. 2, 1888, at the age of 60 years.

TWO OTHER stones note the deaths of Mary Kessiah Anne, daughter of G. W. and A. Voris on May 9, 1854, at the age of 12 years, and Lucinda Jane, daughter of J. and F. M. Saunders, who died July 3, 1855.

Visible from the highway to Green Mountain is another cemetery which, more or less, comes in the category of being abandoned. This is located on the Robert Smith farm. Until purchased by the Smiths about a year ago, the farm belonged to descendants of John Brown. According to Mrs. E. E. Sprecher, 509 Marion Street, her father lived on the farm for many years and apparently those buried in this cemetery were some of his ancestors.

According to the deed to this farm, the burial ground must be kept intact. A fence has been placed around it and the Smiths have burned off the dead undergrowth and set up many of the stones which had been knocked over.

Largest stone here is that for the Stubbs family. Noted on it is this information: John Stubbs, died Sept. 22, 1872, aged 72 years, 4 months; Harriet Fanton, daughter of J. and H. Stubbs, died Sept. 1, 1869, age 29 years, 8 months; Hannah Clay, daughter of J. and H. Stubbs, died May 14, 1866, aged 23 years, 8 months; and Harriett, wife of J. Stubbs, died Dec. 24, 1876, aged 72 years.

THERE IS A stone for a Civil War veteran, Thos. Brown. He died, according to the inscription, Sept. 9, 1863, aged 41 years, 3 months and 2 days. He was a member of Co. K, 23rd Iowa Infantry.

Buried here are apparently four children of Thomas Brown. They are Francis, daughter of T. and E. Brown, who died Jan. 17, 1855 at the age of 11 months; James, one year old, who died Dec. 18, 1852; Mary J., five years old, who died Oct. 20, 1854; and another listed as infant, died May 1, 1861.

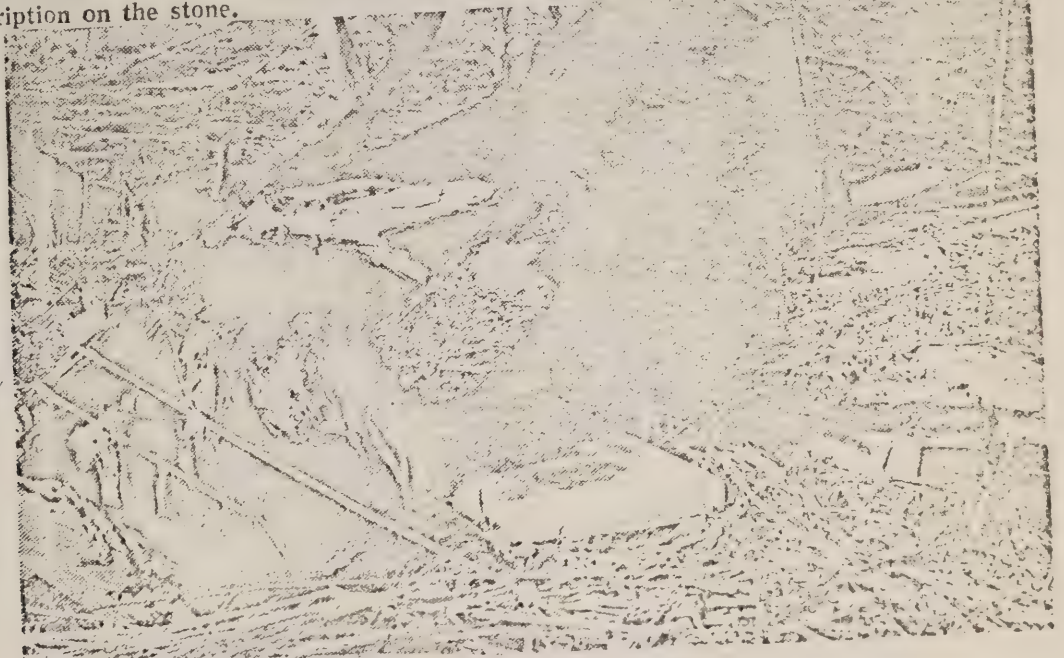

Other families, with the name legible, represented in this cemetery are the Moon, Thatcher, Orr and Aliman. There are other tombstones in which the inscriptions are unreadable.

IN MANY ABANDONED cemeteries the tombstones have been toppled and buried in the ground. In the Ballard Half Acre Cemetery near Albion, the stone for the grave of Elizabeth Ballard, 17-year-old wife of Philip Ballard, who died in 1852, is in such a state. How far the stone is from the actual grave is unknown. Dirt, twigs and other debris had to be scraped away in order to read the inscription on the stone.

WHAT THE RAVAGES OF TIME and the elements can do to cemeteries that are not used is shown above in the Ballard Half Acre cemetery, two miles northwest of Albion. Tombstones have been toppled by storms which have uprooted trees. Some of the stones when uncovered by dirt and debris, date back to 1844. And many of the stones are moved from their original positions.
